

State of notifications related to business combinations in fiscal year 2018
(Tentative Translation)

June 19, 2019
The Japan Fair Trade Commission

Part I State of acceptance and investigation of notifications of acquisition of stock

In FY2018, the JFTC received 321 notifications of business combination plans (up 4.9% from the previous fiscal year), of which notifications of acquisition of stock numbered 259, notifications of merger 16, notifications of demerger 15, notifications of joint share transfer 2, and notifications of business acquisition, etc. 29.

Of the 321 notifications received in FY2018, the “number of cases where the JFTC issued a notice to the effect that the JFTC would not issue a cease and desist order on the grounds that the primary review found no problems under the Antimonopoly Act (hereinafter referred to as the “AMA”) was 315, the “number of cases subjected to the secondary review on the grounds that further detailed examination would be necessary”, was 2, and the “number of cases withdrawn during the primary review”, was 4.

With regard to 8 cases of those closed in FY2018, the JFTC concluded that there would be no problem under the AMA, given that remedial measures proposed by the relevant companies would be implemented.

The state of acceptance and investigation of notifications in the past three years is shown in Table 1, Table 2, and Table 3.

Table 1. Processing status of notifications received in the past three fiscal years

|   | FY2016 | FY2017 | FY2018 |
|---|--------|--------|--------|
| Number of notifications                                       | 319    | 306    | 321    |
| Cases closed at the primary review (Note 1)                   | 308    | 299    | 315    |
| Cases where the waiting period was shortened among above      | (171)  | (193)  | (240)  |
| Cases withdrawn prior to the conclusion of the primary review | 8      | 6      | 4      |
| Cases which received the secondary review                     | 3      | 1      | 2      |

(Note 1) Cases where the JFTC issued a notice to the effect that the JFTC would not issue a cease and desist order on the grounds that the primary review found no issues in terms of the AMA

Table 2. Processing status of the secondary review in the past three fiscal years

|  | FY2016 | FY2017 | FY2018 |
|--|--------|--------|--------|
| Cases closed at the secondary review (Note 3)                      | 3      | 1      | 3      |
| Cases found to have no issues given the implementation of remedies | 3      | 0      | 2      |
| Cases in which a cease and desist order was issued                 | 0      | 0      | 0      |

(Note 2) The above table shows the number of notifications processed in each fiscal year regardless of whether they were received during the same fiscal year.

(Note 3) Cases where the JFTC issued a notice to the effect that the JFTC would not issue a cease and desist order on the grounds that the secondary review found no problems under the AMA

| 66                      | 193           | 259   |

(Note 4) A percentage of acquired voting rights is calculated by dividing the sum of the number of voting rights concerning a share issuing company which will be owned by a notifying company after acquisition and by corporations, other than the notifying company, which belong to a group of combined companies which the notifying company is part of, by the total number of voting rights of the share issuing company owned by all stockholders.

2. Mergers

(1) Number of cases by merger type

By type of merger, 16 notifications were about mergers (absorption-type mergers) and there was no notification of consolidation.

(2) Number of cases by total domestic sales (Table 6)

(Note 9) Notifications were classified by the industry of the share acquiring company in the case of acquisition of stock, the industry of the surviving company after merger in the case of merger, the industry of the succeeding company in the case of joint incorporation-type demerger and absorption-type demerger, the industry of the newly established company in the case of joint share transfer, and the industry of the company which acquires business, etc. in the case of acquisition of business, etc.

Part IV Number of notifications by type of relationship (Table 11)

1. Acquisition of stock

Of 259 notifications of acquisition of stock, horizontal relationship was the most prevalent and involved in 135 notifications, followed by vertical relationship (forward), 68 and vertical relationship (backward), 61.

(Note 10) Types of relationship are detailed below. The same shall apply hereinafter.

(1) Horizontal relationship: Cases where parties constituting the company group are competing with each other in the same particular field of trade.

(2) Vertical relationship: Cases where parties constituting the company group do not share the same transaction stage.

Forward: Cases where a share acquiring company, surviving company, succeeding company or acquiring corporation combines with a corporation which is closer to end-users

Backward: Cases where a business combination is made with a corporation which is farther from end-users.

(3) Conglomerate relationship: Cases where neither horizontal nor vertical relationship applies

Market extension: Cases where parties constituting the company group are supplying the same kind of goods or services in different markets

Product extension: Cases where parties constituting the company group are supplying different kinds of goods or services that are related in terms of production or sales

Pure: Cases where none of the above applies

(Note 11) Notifications involving multiple types of relationship are counted towards their respective type. Therefore, the sum of the number of notifications of each type does not always match the number of notifications in total. The same shall apply hereinafter.

2. Mergers

Of 16 notifications of merger(s), horizontal relationship was the most prevalent and involved in 10 notifications, followed by vertical relationship (forward), 4 and conglomerate relationship (market extension), 3.

3. Demergers

There was no notification of joint incorporation-type demerger.

Of 15 notifications of Absorption-type demerger, horizontal relationship was the most prevalent and involved in 10 notifications, followed by vertical relationship (forward), 5 and conglomerate relationship (market extension), 4.

4. Joint share transfer

Horizontal relationship was involved in all 2 notifications of joint share transfer.

5. Acquisition of business, etc.

Of 29 notifications of acquisition of business, etc., horizontal relationship was the most prevalent and involved in 22 notifications, followed by vertical relationship (forward), 5 and vertical relationship (backward), 4.

(Note 1) Numbers in brackets are the numbers of authorized cases.

(Note 2) As the provisions for business report and notification of incorporation of Article 9 of the AMA were established in the 1997 revision of the Act, no data is available for years prior.

In addition, before the 2002 revision of the AMA, business reports and notifications of incorporation were required for holding companies with total amounts of assets exceeding a certain level. Since the 2002 revision, however, financial companies and non-financial companies with total amounts of assets exceeding a certain level in addition to holding companies have been required to submit business reports and notifications of incorporation.

(Note 3) The (total asset) threshold requiring reports of shareholding has been revised as follows:

| Revised year | (Total asset) threshold |
|--------------|-------------------------|
| 1949         | Over 5 million yen      |
| 28           | Over 100 million yen    |
| 40           | Over 500 million yen    |
| 52           | Over 2 billion yen      |

Before the 1998 revision of the AMA, domestic corporations (excluding those engaged in financial business) with total assets of over 2 billion yen as well as foreign corporations (excluding those engaged in financial business) were required to submit a report of shareholding within three months of the end of every business year, if they had shares of domestic corporations. Under the 1998 revision of the AMA, a corporation which had total assets exceeding 2 billion yen and belonged to a group of combined companies which had a sum of total assets exceeding 10 billion yen was required to submit a report of shareholding if it acquired or held more than 10%, 25%, or 50% of stocks of a domestic corporation with total assets exceeding 1 billion yen or a foreign corporation with domestic sales exceeding 1 billion yen.

In addition, notification standards have been changed since the revision of the AMA in 2009 and a corporation with total domestic sales exceeding 20 billion yen has been required to submit a notification in advance just as in the case of a merger, etc., if it plans to acquire stocks of another corporation with total domestic sales, including those of subsidiaries, exceeding 5 billion yen, and to hold more than 20% or 50% of voting rights (notification at two stages).

(Note 4) Before the 1998 revision of the AMA, officers and employees of a corporation were required to notify the JFTC if they also held positions as officers of another corporation which was in competition with the first corporation in Japan and a total amount of assets of one of the two corporations exceeded 2 billion yen. This requirement was removed in the 1998 revision.

(Note 5) Before the 1998 revision of the AMA, a person other than a company was required to submit a report of shareholding, if he was to hold more than 10% of all issued stocks of each of two or more domestic corporations which were in competition with each other in Japan. This requirement was removed in the 1998 revision.

(Note 6) Before the 1998 revision of the AMA, a corporation was required to notify the JFTC in advance without exception, if it planned to merge with another. Under the 1998 revision, however, notification was required if the Parties included a corporation which belonged to a group of combined companies which had a sum of total assets exceeding 10 billion yen and another corporation which belonged to a group of combined companies which had a sum of total assets exceeding 1 billion yen.

In addition, notification standards have been changed since the revision of the AMA in 2009 and now the JFTC must be notified if a corporation with total domestic sales exceeding 20 billion and another corporation with total domestic sales exceeding 5 billion yen plan to merge.

(Note 7) As notification of demerger was introduced in the 2000 revision of the Commercial Code, no data is available for years up to FY2000.

In addition, notification standards have been changed since the revision of the AMA in 2009 and now the JFTC must be notified of a plan of demerger in cases where the Parties include a total succession company (a corporation which intends to alienate all of its business) whose total domestic sales exceed 20 billion yen and a corporation with total domestic sales exceeding 5 billion yen which intends to succeed to the business.

(Note 8) As notification of joint share transfer was introduced in the 2009 revision of the AMA, no data is available for years up to FY2008.

(Note 9) Before the 1998 revision of the AMA, a corporation was required to notify the JFTC in advance without exception, if it planned to acquire the whole or a substantial part of the business of another company. Under the 1998 revision, however, notification was required if a corporation which belonged to a group of combined companies which had a sum of total assets exceeding 10 billion yen planned to acquire the whole business of another domestic corporation whose total assets were over 1 billion yen.

In addition, notification standards have been changed since the revision of the AMA in 2009 and now the JFTC must be notified of a plan to acquire a business if a corporation with total domestic sales exceeding 20 billion plans to acquire the whole business of another corporation with domestic sales exceeding 3 billion yen.
