

The Japan Fair Trade Commission has dispatched its official as a long-term expert to the Trade Competition Commission of Thailand

November 12, 2021
Japan Fair Trade Commission

In response to Thai government's request, the Japan Fair Trade Commission (JFTC) has dispatched its official as a long-term expert to the Trade Competition Commission of Thailand (TCC), in cooperation with the Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA).

In Thailand, the Trade Competition Act has been enacted since 1999. The TCC, which was established as an independent administrative agency due to the amendment of the Act in 2017, has been hiring a number of staffs in recent years.

In the light of this background, the TCC is aiming to build a support system to strengthen the capability of its staff. To this end, this dispatch aims to help the TCC improve their capacity to enforce the Act and to design the competition policy in Thailand, by providing them with the knowledge and advice of the expert.

1. Period: November 12, 2021- November 11, 2023(planned)
2. Recipient organization: the TCC
3. Main activities: to hold training courses on competition law and policy and to support advocacy activities

*The details of the activities will be decided after the discussion between the TCC and the expert about how to implement the activities effectively.